Thanks to Mrs. Stapleton, one of the Hays county emigrants to Mexico, just returned, for a lemon grown in Tuxpan, Mexico. It weighs 11 cunces.

We were pleased to make the acquaintance yesterday of Mr. Chastain of Des Moines, Iowa, who is here on a visit to his parents. He is their oldest living son, and had not been home before for some twenty years.

For some time "ye editor" has been too busy to be sociable, and is likely to contin-ue so for some time to come. He trusts his friends and correspondents will excuse him for a while. In the laying in of boliday supplies we trust our blind neighbor, Mr. Vanlandingham will not be overlooked. He has a good stock of Christmas supplies and is eminently deserving of patronage.

During one or more of the worst days of last week the Catholics were worshipping at their church in honor of some one of their numerous saints. Other denominations might well imitate their zeal, at least.

Judge Fisher was, of course elected as our Representative in the Legislature. It was a sacrifice on his part to accept the position, in view of the very inadequate com-pensation, but he deserves all the more credit for making the sacrifice at the call of the people to a position entirely unsought by him.

On our recent visit to the home of Jas. I Malone, he informed us he had resided there 38 years. When he first settled there the entire country to Seguin and beyond was a vast sea of talf grass. Cattle were kept fat by it and hogs by the abundant mast; both were of nearly nominal value. It must then have been easy to make a living.

The Misses Lindsey have made a handsome improvement by substituting for the old picket fence which was left around a part of their grounds in town a handsome new paling. We wonder this sort of thing is not more frequently done, for we believe the old cedar fences are worth quite as much for posts as the cost of the new ones.

There is a report, believed to be authen tic, that Squire McBride, who left here las fall to settle at Los Angeles, California, has returned to Wichita Falls, Texas. And some other citizens of the upper portion of this county who emigrated to Mexico some time ago have also returned, disgusted with their venture. Hurrah for Texas. While at San Antonio, the first of the

We take great and peculiar pleasure in recording the progress and success of the San Marcos Bookstore, conducted by the leading business firm of the place composed of ladies, we mean Misses Russell and Ellison. The FREE PRESS feels an honest pride in the success of this institution, be-because it was first instrumental in bringing the original pr prietor to our town. Beginning in a small way, and under many diffi-culties, it has by careful attention and fair and square treatment of its patrons, grown in dimensions and the favor of the people till it has become a favorite institut our town. The original small germ is now in the full flower of admiration and success. May its attractions and prosperity never diminish, but, if possible, continue to in-

We believe the most beautiful work of hu We believe the most beautiful work of human art and skill we ever saw was a bridal fan we had the pleasure of inspecting the other day, the work of our excellent and accomplished neighbor, Miss Emma H. It was made to supply an order from a large dealer in fancy goods in St. Louis. dealer in fancy goods in St. Louis, (we cannot recall the address), and the same firm are anxious to secure all the work in the artistic lines she will execute for them. We feel that it is but just that our people should realize, the genius in her line, whom we have among us. One of her pyramids of fruits and flowers may be seen at the San Marcos Bookstore, and we would advise all lovers of the beautiful to call and see it. But it will give no idea of that fan. no idea of that fan.

Our Water Works.

The Water Company finished laying their nains up to the public square on the 10th inst., and then a hurried trial of a few of the hydrants was made, which resulted in the works being pronounced a perfect success. The Company then connected with the mains on the side streets, and on Tuesday an official test was made, and we are glad to say that the streams thrown would have done credit to Austin or San Antonioindeed we doubt the ability of either of those water works to throw a higher stream than was thrown here Tuesday. The pressure was from the which is placed at an elevation of one hundred and fifty feet above our public square, and registered 62 lbs per square inch. When the first stream was turned on the indicator showed a loss of 3 lbs, and the next hydrant opened full caused an additional loss of 3 lbs, which shows conclusively that-our works are capable of throwing four fire streams simultaneously and still maintaining a pressure of fifty pounds per square inch. This will reduce insurance in our city, and in a thousand ways add to its growth and Go to J. B. HANKLA prosperity.

We are informed that the Company nov have thirteen thousand feet of pipe in use, and will add within the next sixty days about ten thousand feet more. This addi tion will reach the Institute, Judge Kone, Ed. J. L. Green, L. W. Mitchell, and all residents living between those points and the public square—in fact it will place the whole town within reach of one of the best water supplies in the State.

The Company employ part of the water power obtained from the head of the wonderful San Marcos river to run their pumps, and claim that they can raise water cheaper than any water company in the State. The water is taken from a point inaccessible to stock, and just as it bursts from beneath the massive boulders—so clear and sparkling that its reputation is as broad as that of the silver veil of the Yosemite.

The reservoir is placed on the Steele property at an elevation of two hundred feet above water mark of the rivar, and is built up of solid stone masonry. Its capacity is sufficient to insure an ample supply in case of accident to machinery.

For the benefit of our outside readers we give the names of the officers: C. M. Holmes, Prest.; A. E. Judge, Vice Prest.; W. O. Hutchison, Secy.; L. W. Mitchell, Treas. C. M. Holmes is the engineer and builder.

Highly Important. Apropos of the completion and success of our Water-works, it becomes a matter of the first importance that our town authorities should take prompt steps to make them thoroughly available. In order to do this we are assured by those best informed on the subject that we should have 600 feet more of hose and 4 additional nozzles, so as to utilize the water supplies now ready as a protection agains fire. And the the time has fully come for the organization of a fire company for the same purpose. It will be the extreme of folly if, with the means of protection against fire and vastly reducing the rates of insurance at hand, we halt and higgle about the not very large additional additional expenditure necessary to make them effective.

Our correspondent "Clyde," seems still to Free Press. be hovering about the mountains, as he writes to inform us that he enjoys excellent health, and is now and again knocking over a deer. That the weather continues mild for the season. That the rains of last week partly filled the water holes and that the catele are romping about for very joy, while the hearts of the stockmen have been gladdened.
